Answering important questions about our products and services.

Westpac Banking Corporation
ABN 33 007 457 141, AFSL No. 233714
Issue Date 08/03/2011

This Financial Services Guide, Credit Information and Privacy Statement (the 'Guide') answers important questions about our financial products and services and provides some useful information about our credit/lending products and services. It is designed to help you make an informed decision about whether to use us.

In this Guide, the words "we" and "our" refer to Westpac Banking Corporation. References to the "Westpac Group" refers to all our related body corporates. The Westpac Group has additional products and services that are not covered by this Guide. If your interaction with the Westpac Group involves those products and services, you may receive an additional Financial Services Guide.

What other information should you consider?

In addition to this Guide we may give you additional information depending on the type of product or service you choose. This may include a Statement of Advice, Product Disclosure Statement, 'prospectus', 'letter of offer', 'conditions of use' or 'terms and conditions' document containing specific details about that product, service or advice. To make sure you make the right decision, you should read them before you decide what to do.

For more information about our products and services and this Guide, call us on 132032 or visit our website at www.westpac.com.au

How to contact us.

- Visit one of our branches;
- Call us on 132 032;
- Write to us at GPO Box 3433, Sydney NSW 2001;
- Visit our website at www.westpac.com.au; or

When providing us with special instructions, your communication may need to be in writing. Where this is required, we will tell you in the information you get for the product or service you have chosen.

What products and services do we offer?

Westpac has an Australian Financial Services Licence (No. 233714) which authorises us to advise on and deal in financial products and services, including those issued by Westpac or companies in the Westpac Group (as set out below). Our Australian Financial Services Licence does not apply to lending products.

We may also act as agents of other companies to sell you their products. In this case, those companies rather than Westpac are bound by the terms of their products.

The financial products and services we offer include:

- Banking products (including deposit products, transaction accounts and payment facilities)
- Insurance (including general insurance and life insurance products)
- Superannuation
- Financial markets and international products (including foreign exchange accounts and contracts)

We have a banking authority issued by the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) and offer a range of banking products and services including consumer and business lending products.

Our consumer lending products include credit cards, home loans and property investment loans. Our business lending products include commercial credit cards, business loans and overdrafts.

Types of financial product advice.

We can give you two types of financial product advice: personal and general.

We give you personal advice when our advice takes into account your objectives, financial situation and/or needs. For us to give you personal advice, we need to be aware of your individual financial objectives, your financial situation and needs.

We may also give you general advice which does not take into account your objectives, financial situation and/or needs.

We will tell you if the advice we are providing is general advice only.

For lending products the distinction between general and personal advice does not apply.

Staff who provide financial advice.

Not all our staff are qualified to give you financial advice. Some staff are authorised only to give general advice or personal advice on a limited range of financial products. If a Westpac staff member cannot help you or provide you with advice, they will refer you to another staff member who can, or suggest that you talk with a financial planner.

What payments and other benefits do our employees receive?

The way we pay our employees varies between our business areas. Generally we pay our employees a combination of salary plus superannuation and one or more of the following types of benefits:

Cash incentives

Our employees may receive bonuses (individual and/or team) if they meet:

- Sales targets (including their own sales or for referring customers to other areas of Westpac or the Westpac Group); and
- Other performance targets (which include meeting compliance, customer, shareholder, people and corporate responsibility requirements).

Bonuses may be paid as cash, superannuation or Westpac shares. The mechanism for calculating the bonus may vary according to the particular part of our business in which an employee works.

Non-cash incentives.

For meeting sales or performance targets, our employees may also receive other rewards ranging from movie tickets and gift vouchers to pre-paid holiday packages, attendance at conferences and Westpac performance shares and options.

Fees we pay to referrers.

If a customer is referred to us (whether by a person or a company), we or companies in the Westpac Group may pay the referrer a fee. The fee may be up to 100% of our fees (where the referral is made within the Westpac Group), a percentage of the total amount invested or paid through the referral, or a flat fee.

Fees and benefits we receive from other companies.

When you buy (or, in some cases, when you replace or renew) financial products that are issued by other companies (including those within the Westpac Group), they may provide us with an upfront fee or an ongoing fee. This may happen, when you buy general or life insurance. Details of the fees we receive for these financial products are set out in the following table:

Financial Product type	Upfront commission	Ongoing commission
General Insurance Products	Up to 20% of first year's premium	Not applicable
Life Insurance Products	Up to 140% of first year's premium	Up to 20% of renewal premiums

We may also receive commissions of up to 2% of premiums for referrals to external insurance brokers for specialised general insurance products.

Any fees or benefits we receive from other companies in respect to lending products will be disclosed to you, where required by law.

Respecting your privacy.

Your privacy is important to us. We will tell you the main reason for asking for your personal information when we seek it from you. If you provide Westpac with personal or financial information we will use it to help recommend financial products and services to you. It may also be used, for account opening and administration and marketing and research purposes. We may disclose your information to other members of the Westpac Group, our service providers and third parties where it is required or permitted by law.

Our Privacy Policy explains the main ways we protect your privacy and how we comply with the National Privacy Principles. You may obtain a copy of our Privacy Policy by:

- calling us on 132 032; or
- asking at any of our branches.

Professional indemnity insurance.

As an Authorised Deposit-taking Institution, we are not required by the Australian Securities Investments Commission to obtain professional indemnity insurance.
