Remuneration philosophy and practice

Non-executive directors

Our non-executive directors are remunerated by fees determined by our board of directors within the aggregate directors' fee pool limit of $1.5 million approved by shareholders in December 1999. The pool limit is not at present fully utilised. In setting directors' fees, account is taken of the responsibilities inherent in the stewardship of Westpac and the demands made of directors in the discharge of their responsibilities. Advice is taken from independent consultancy sources to ensure remuneration accords with market practice. Income received, or due and receivable by non-executive directors of Westpac for the year ended 30 September 2001 was:

		Fees	Superannuation Guarantee Charge	Retirement/ Resignation	Total cost

Note: Remuneration for executive directors is disclosed at page 56. Notes:

³ Retirement/resignation payments calculated in accordance with the formula contained in the Directors' Service Agreement approved by shareholders at the January 1989 Annual General Meeting.

Executive directors and senior executives

We have designed our executive remuneration program to support a pay for performance policy that differentiates remuneration amounts based on an evaluation of performance results in three basic areas: group, business unit and individual. Remuneration has four components: base pay, short-term incentive, long-term incentive and other compensation (including superannuation). The program is administered by the Board Remuneration Committee (the "Committee"), which is composed of non-executive directors.

In combination, these four remuneration components comprise total reward. For the better performers, total reward is matched to the upper quartile of the market, reflecting a target mix of fixed and variable pay and a blend of short-term and long-term elements.

The Committee takes into account the recommendations of the Chief Executive Officer with respect to the remuneration of our key executives. In making recommendations, he receives assessments and advice from independent remuneration consultants regarding our compensation practices and those of others.

The Committee's specific objectives are to:

provide base pay and benefits to attract and retain key executives who are critical to our long-term success, by providing a secure level of income that recognises the market value of the position as well as internal equities among roles, the individual's performance, capabilities and experience. Base pay for management typically approximates the median salary for positions of similar responsibility in the peer group. Generally, increases in base pay only occur in response to market

- changes or when warranted by an executive's change in responsibilities. In 2001 a number of executives had a change in responsibilities.
- provide annual short-term incentives that:
 - (i) are tightly linked to measurable key drivers of shareholder value creation, including financial and non-financial components; and
 - (ii) emphasise performance above shareholder expectations, including superior growth in economic profit relative to peer companies.
- align the financial interests of executive officers with those of our shareholders by providing significant equity-based long-term incentives. Share options and other equity-based incentives are awarded to link a significant portion of senior management remuneration to the attainment of sustained growth in shareholder value. Award levels are determined according to the individual's responsibilities, performance and potential to enhance shareholder value. Share options awarded to senior executives have been issued under the General Management Share Option Plan under which the exercise of options is subject to performance hurdles. Share options are awarded to David Morgan under a Chief Executive Share Option Agreement, approved by shareholders, under which the exercise of options is subject to performance hurdles. The Committee uses the Black-Scholes option-pricing model, adjusted to reflect the performance hurdles, to establish the appropriate value of the long-term incentive.
- emphasise performance-based and equity-based remuneration as executive officer level increases.

Notes:

- 1 Base pay has been received in the year to 30 September 2001. Short-term incentive figures reflect annual performance awards accrued but not yet paid in respect of the year ended 30 September 2001.
- 2 Other compensation is determined on the basis of the cost to us and includes all fringe benefits tax and superannuation surchargeable contributions for those executives who are members of our Staff Superannuation Plan, as determined by the Plan's actuary, housing (plus fringe benefits tax), car parking (plus fringe benefits tax) and other benefits, such as commencement incentives and separation payments.
- 3 This amount includes $4,906,274 representing long term benefits comprised of payments made to offset income tax differences between Australia and the United States accumulated over a seven year period and a long term incentive payment covering performance over a three year period. The balance comprises other compensation described in note 2 above.

Details of the nature and amount of each element of the emolument of each of our six most senior executives, in addition to the executive directors, for the year ended 30 September 2001 are:

Notes

- 1 and 2 Refer to notes for the executive directors remuneration table above.
- 3 Option grants are a right to buy ordinary shares at an exercise price equal to the market value at the date of the offer determined in accordance with the plan rules. The options are recognised in the table above based on the year in respect of which they are granted.
 - The options will be granted with a ten year term pursuant to the General Management Share Option Plan, under which the number of options exercisable depends on our performance against prescribed performance hurdles.
 - Under our US GAAP disclosures, the fair value of options for the purposes of inclusion in the potential compensation expense has been determined using the Black–Scholes option pricing model. The factors that are considered in the Black–Scholes option pricing model include the term of the option, the risk free interest rate, volatility of the share price, the dividend yield and a discount factor to reflect the probability of reaching the performance hurdle.
 - The notional value of the options first exercisable in March 2004 has been assessed at $1.97. The grant of options first exercisable in November 2004 and January 2005 have not been issued as at 2 November 2001. The notional value for these grants has been assessed at $1.81 and $2.02 respectively.

Note: This table discloses remuneration for the six most highly paid senior executives involved in the management of the affairs of Westpac other than executive directors. Other individuals who are rewarded under incentive-based systems according to results, consistent with market practice within the industry, may within any given year receive remuneration at a level in excess of that received by some executives shown.

Share options

During the financial year ended 30 September 2001 there were, as a result of the 2000 remuneration review, 15,254,500 options granted under the General Management Share Option Plan ("GMSOP") and the Senior Officers' Share Purchase Scheme ("SOSPS") to 502 eligible officers for nil consideration, with exercise dates between October 2003 and August 2011 and a weighted average exercise price of $13.31. In addition, the following options with exercise dates between January 2005 and January 2012 have been approved but not yet granted to 476 eligible officers as part of the 2001 remuneration review process:

- 6,250,000 options under the GMSOP with an exercise price of $14.70; and
- 9,241,000 options under the SOSPS with an exercise price of $14.65.

There were 13,214,637 shares issued during the year due to the exercise of options for a total consideration of $110,229,982.

There are currently 40,651,737 options outstanding. The latest dates for exercise of these options range between January 2002 and August 2011 and the weighted average exercise price is $10.86. Options issued under the GMSOP and the 1999 Chief Executive Share Option Agreement totalling 12,981,000 (weighted average exercise price $11.69) are subject to performance requirements that will determine the particular proportion which may be exercised following the end of the performance period. The performance hurdles compare the total shareholder returns received by Westpac shareholders against those received by shareholders of a peer group over the performance period. The peer group is the 50 largest industrial companies listed on the Australian Stock Exchange Limited at the time of the commencement of the performance period.

No person holding an option has or had, by virtue of the option, a right to participate in a share issue of any other body corporate.

Indemnities and insurance

Unless arising out of conduct involving a lack of good faith, under Westpac's Deed of Settlement (the "Deed") Westpac must indemnify, to the extent permitted by law, each director, secretary, executive officer and employee of members of the Group against:

- (i) any liability incurred by each such person in their capacity as director, secretary, executive officer or employee, as the case may be;
- (ii) any liability incurred:
 - (a) in defending civil or criminal proceedings in which judgment is given in their favour or in which they are acquitted;
 - (b) in connection with any application relating to any such proceedings in which relief is granted to them under the Corporations Act 2001 or the corresponding law of another jurisdiction where Westpac carries on business; or
 - (c) in connection with any investigation of any kind relating to the affairs or conduct of Westpac or any member of the Group in which they are examined or required to give evidence or produce documents.

Each of the directors named on pages 44 and 45 of this report and the secretary of Westpac, Ilana Atlas, has the benefit of this indemnity, which extends to all directors, secretaries, executive officers and employees of each member of the Group.

Following shareholder approval at the 1999 Annual General Meeting, Westpac has entered into a Deed of Access and Indemnity with each of the directors which includes indemnification in identical terms to that provided in the Deed.

Auditors of Westpac are also indemnified under the Deed on terms identical to those set out in paragraph (ii) on page 57.

No amount was paid under any of these indemnities during the financial year ended 30 September 2001 or since that date.

The Deed permits Westpac to pay or agree to pay premiums in respect of any contract of insurance, which insures any person who is or has been a director, secretary, executive officer or employee of any member of the Group against any liability incurred by that person in any such capacity and being a liability:

- (i) for costs and expenses in defending proceedings (whether civil or criminal), whatever their outcome; or
- (ii) not arising out of conduct involving a wilful breach of duty or which contravenes sections 182 and 183 of the Corporations Act 2001.

Westpac, on behalf of the Group, for the year ended 30 September 2001 arranged insurance cover in respect of amounts which Westpac may have to pay under any of the indemnities set out above. The insurance policy prohibits disclosure of the premium payable and the nature of the liabilities covered.

Westpac may, however, become subject to environmental regulation in enforcing securities over land for the recovery of loans.

Management discussion and analysis of the statement of financial performance

Net profit attributable to equity holders was $1,903 million for the year ended 30 September 2001. This represents an 11% growth on 2000 from $1,715 million, which in turn was 18% higher than 1999.

Net interest income increased by $362 million or 9% from 2000, and $235 million or 7% from 1999. The increase in 2001 related to strong growth in average interest earning assets while margins remained flat. In 2000, the increase was due to strong growth in interest earnings assets offset by a 15 basis point reduction in interest margin.

Non-interest income increased by $123 million or 5% on 2000 which in turn increased by 12% on 1999. The 2001 result included a net charge of $41 million due to tax recoveries on the life insurance policyholders' earnings, compared to a positive contribution of $68 million in 2000. Adjusting for this item, non-interest income increased by 10% on 2000 and 9% on 1999. The main contributors to growth in 2001 were:

- a $111 million or 7% increase in net fees and commissions primarily due to increases in loan volumes and transaction activities;
- a $120 million or 53% increase in financial markets non-interest income; and
- adjusting for tax recoveries, a $68 million or 12% increase in insurance and fund management income.

2000 was the first year of the new life insurance accounting standard AASB 1038 Life Insurance Business which resulted in recognition of life insurance income and expense on a gross basis. In addition, during February 2000 we restructured part of our financial services group and as a consequence, the financial services distribution business results were brought to account on an embedded value basis. The effect of the consolidation of the life insurance business and of the restructure had been to add $227 million to non-interest income for 2000.

Operating expenses increased by $67 million or 2% from 2000. 2000 expenses also increased 2% from 1999, although after adjusting for the application of the life insurance accounting standard, expenses were flat from 1999 to 2000. The 2001 nominal increase includes absorbing an additional $78 million in goods and services tax costs, $27 million of additional restructuring costs, $8 million in adverse exchange rate movements and incremental costs across all operations due to growing transaction volumes. Expense containment continued to be a key priority as demonstrated by continued improvement in the expense to income ratio (before amortisation of goodwill) from 57.9% in 1999 to 54.5% in 2000 and to 51.5% in 2001.

Bad and doubtful debts increased by $231 million or 14% from 2000, which in turn increased 18% or $31 million from 1999. The increase in 2001 was predominantly due to a small number of corporate exposure downgrades and write-offs in consumer and personal lending products.

The company tax rate in 2001 was reduced to 34% from 36% in 2000 and 1999. The Group's effective tax rates in 2001, 2000 and 1999 were below the relevant company tax rate each year due to the impact of lower overseas tax rates and certain non-taxable items. The tax expense included a $41 million credit in 2001 and a $68 million charge in 2000 in relation to tax recoveries on life insurance policyholders' earnings, offset in non-interest income in accordance with the requirements of the life insurance business accounting standard.

Concise financials

Management discussion and analysis of the statement of financial position

Assets increased by $22 billion to $190 billion in 2001. This was largely driven by a 12% growth in lending assets.

Significant asset movements in 2001 were:

- loans increased by $15 billion to $122 billion in 2001 from 2000. This was primarily due to higher housing loan levels in Australia of $6 billion and $2 billion in New Zealand:
- trading securities increased by $4 billion to $11 billion in 2001;
- life insurance investment assets were reported for the first time in 2000 and there was minimal net movement in 2001; and
- the increase in other assets of $2 billion related predominantly to securities sold not yet delivered and to other financial markets assets. The latter was due to an increase in the volume and the revaluation of derivative financial instruments, largely driven by the movement in the value of the Australian dollar against the United States dollar during the year.

The growth in our assets was funded by a $9 billion growth in debt issues and $6 billion growth in deposits and public borrowings. In 2000, the growth was funded half by debt issues and half by deposits and public borrowings.

Total equity increased by $0.4 billion in 2001 from $9.3 billion in 2000. This movement reflects an increase in accumulated earnings partially offset by share buy-backs and dividends during the year. The Groups' share buy-back program was suspended earlier in the year due to target capital levels being reached.

The Group maintained a strong capital position with tier 1 and net capital ratios being 6.3% and 9.9% respectively (2000 6.6% and 9.9% and 1999 7.0% and 9.2%). The minimum regulatory requirements are 4.0% and 8.0% respectively.

Note 5. Group segment information

The basis of reporting reflects the management of the business within the Group, rather than the legal structure of the Group. The business segment results have been presented on a management reporting basis and consequently internal charges and transfer pricing adjustments have been reflected in the performance of each business segment. Intersegment pricing is determined on an arm's length basis.

The business segments are defined by the customers they service and the services they provide. The Australian Retail Financial Services segment consists of the combined results of Business and Consumer Banking, Banking and Financial Solutions and eBusiness and Information Technology. The Institutional Banking segment represents primarily corporate and government customers providing services including corporate finance and financial markets. The New Zealand Retail segment comprises the retail operations of this region. Other includes the results of Group Treasury, Pacific Banking and Head Office functions.
