KEY INFORMATION SUMMARY

What is this?

This is an offer (Offer) of unsecured, subordinated, convertible, fixed rate notes, Westpac NZD Subordinated Notes (Notes). The Notes are debt securities issued by Westpac Banking Corporation (Westpac), acting through its head office, Sydney. You give Westpac money, and in return Westpac promises to pay you interest and repay the money at the end of the term, subject to solvency, any conversion or write off.

While this Offer is being made in New Zealand only, it is being made by Westpac Banking Corporation from its head office in Sydney, Australia and NOT by Westpac New Zealand Limited.

The Notes are convertible debt securities. If a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs, some or all of the Notes may be Converted into ordinary shares issued by Westpac (Westpac Shares). A Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs if the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) notifies Westpac in writing that it believes:

- the Conversion of some or all of the Notes, or conversion, write off or write down of all or some capital instruments of the Westpac Group; or
- a public sector injection of capital or equivalent support,

is, in each case, necessary because, without it, Westpac would become non-viable.

This may occur if Westpac encounters severe financial difficulty. If any of the Notes are Converted into Westpac Shares following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, the value of the Westpac Shares received is likely to be significantly less than the principal amount of the Notes. Following Conversion, there is no certainty as to the future value of the Westpac Shares. If for any reason the Notes are not Converted into Westpac Shares when required following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, then those Notes will be Written Off and you will lose your investment.

Warning

These Notes carry similar risks to shares but do not have the same opportunity for growth as shares. If Westpac experiences financial difficulty, the Notes can be Converted into Westpac Shares (which may be worth less than your investment) or even Written Off completely. This means you could lose all of your investment.

When a Conversion occurs	Some or all of the Notes may be Converted into Westpac Shares if a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs. A Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs if APRA notifies Westpac in writing that it believes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the Conversion of some or all of the Notes, or conversion, write off or write down of all or some capital instruments of the Westpac Group; or • a public sector injection of capital or equivalent support, is, in each case, necessary because, without it, Westpac would become non-viable. This may occur if Westpac encounters severe financial difficulty. See section 5.4, 'Conversion and Write Off following a Non-Viability Trigger Event', for further details.
Terms of the Conversion	If Notes are Converted, Westpac will issue to you the Conversion Number (see below) of Westpac Shares for each Note that you hold that is Converted, subject to the Maximum Conversion Number. Shares to be issued on a Conversion	The number of Westpac Shares you will receive on Conversion will be equal to the Conversion Number unless the Maximum Conversion Number applies. If any Notes are Converted following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, it is likely that the Maximum Conversion Number will apply and limit the number of Westpac Shares to be issued. In this case, the value of the Westpac Shares received is likely to be significantly less than the aggregate principal amount of those Notes. Following Conversion, there is no certainty as to the future value of the Westpac Shares. You should note that the Australian Dollar may depreciate in value against the New Zealand Dollar by the time of Conversion. In this case, the Maximum Conversion Number is more likely to apply. See section 5.4, 'How many Westpac Shares are issued on Conversion?', for further details.
Write Off	If for any reason the Notes are not Converted into Westpac Shares when required following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, then those Notes will be immediately and irrevocably Written Off. This means you will receive nothing further in relation to those Notes, your rights under them (including rights to payment of interest and principal or to have the Notes converted into Westpac Shares) will be terminated and you will lose all of your investment in them.

No guarantee

No member of the Westpac Group (other than Westpac) has any liability for the Notes and neither Westpac nor any member of the Westpac Group guarantees the Notes.

The Notes are not deposit liabilities or protected accounts of Westpac for the purposes of the Australian Banking Act or the financial claims scheme under the Australian Banking Act and are not subject to the depositor protection provisions of Australian banking legislation (including the Australian Government guarantee of certain bank deposits).

How you can get your money out early

Although the Notes can be sold as described below, you cannot otherwise redeem the Notes before their Maturity Date.

Westpac intends to quote these Notes on the NZX Debt Market. This means you may be able to sell them on the NZX Debt Market before the end of their term if there are interested buyers. If you sell your Notes, the price you get will vary depending on factors such as the financial condition of the Westpac Group and movements in the market interest rates. You may receive less than the full amount that you paid for them.

Westpac Shares are currently quoted on ASX and the NZX Main Board. If the Notes are Converted into Westpac Shares, Westpac intends that those Westpac Shares will be quoted on ASX. This means that you may be able to sell any Westpac Shares you receive on Conversion on ASX if those Westpac Shares are quoted on ASX and there are interested buyers.

How the Notes rank for repayment

Ranking if Notes not Converted or Written Off

The Notes are subordinated, and rank equally with certain of Westpac's other subordinated obligations. This means that if a Winding-Up of Westpac occurs (and the Notes have not been redeemed, or following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, Converted or Written Off):

- You will be repaid before Westpac Shareholders and any creditors whose claims rank below the Notes.

- You will be repaid equally with holders of all Equal Ranking Instruments (including other holders of the Notes and holders of certain other securities that rank equally with the Notes).
- You will be repaid after Senior Creditors (including depositors and holders of Westpac's senior or less subordinated debt).

You should note that, given the terms of the Notes, it is unlikely that, in practice, a Winding-Up of Westpac will occur without a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurring first and the Notes being Converted or Written Off. Accordingly, the ranking of holders after a Conversion or a Write Off of the Notes as described below is likely to be of more relevance to you.

Ranking if Notes Converted

If the Notes are Converted into Westpac Shares, holders will rank equally with existing Westpac Shareholders.

Ranking if Notes Written Off

If Notes are not Converted when required following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, they will be Written Off. All rights in relation to those Notes that are Written Off will be terminated, and holders will not have their capital repaid or receive any outstanding interest, or have the right to have Notes converted into Westpac Shares.

See section 5.7, 'Ranking', for further details.

No security

The Notes are unsecured.

Key risks affecting this investment

If Westpac experiences financial difficulty, the Notes may be Converted into Westpac Shares or Written Off. You will not have any choice as to whether a Conversion or Write Off occurs, and you may not have a chance to sell your Notes before the Conversion or Write Off. The value of the Westpac Shares that you receive if this occurs is likely to be less than the amount you invest in the Notes. If Conversion is required but is not possible, the Notes will be immediately Written Off in part or in whole and you will lose some or all of your investment.

Interest may not always be paid on the Notes.

Investments in debt securities have risks. A key risk is that Westpac does not meet its commitments to repay you or pay you interest (credit risk). Section 6 of this document (Risks of investing) discusses the main factors that give rise to the risk. You should consider if the credit risk of these debt securities is suitable for you.

The interest rate for these Notes should also reflect the degree of credit risk. In general, higher returns are demanded by investors from businesses with higher risk of defaulting on their commitments. You need to decide whether the Offer is fair.

Westpac considers that the most significant risk factors are:

- Risks associated with compliance and regulatory change. Westpac could be adversely affected by failing to comply with existing laws and regulations, or by changes in laws and regulations and regulatory policy.
- Risks relating to the availability and cost of funding. Adverse credit and capital market conditions or depositor preferences, or failure to maintain Westpac's credit ratings, may significantly affect Westpac's ability to meet its liquidity and funding needs and the cost of Westpac's funding.
- Risks arising out of financial market volatility. Westpac could be adversely affected by disruptions to global financial markets or other financial market volatility.
- Risks relating to economic conditions, asset values and credit losses. Westpac may incur higher credit losses on lending and counterparty exposures as a result of certain events, including economic disruptions, declines in asset values or declines in commodity prices.

The above significant risk factors either individually or in combination may adversely affect Westpac's revenues, increase its costs or otherwise adversely impact its financial position and performance and credit rating. This could adversely affect the market price and liquidity of the Notes and impact on Westpac's ability to pay interest on, and/or repay, the Notes. If the impact was severe, it could result in a Non-Viability Trigger Event, resulting in the Notes being Converted into Westpac Shares or Written Off.

This summary does not cover all of the risks of investing in the Notes. You should also read section 5 (Key features of the Notes) and section 6 (Risks of investing).

What is the Notes' credit rating?

A credit rating is an independent opinion of the capability and willingness of an entity to repay its debts (in other words, its creditworthiness). It is not a guarantee that the financial product being offered is a safe investment. A credit rating should be considered alongside all other relevant information when making an investment decision.

The Notes have been rated by S&P Global Ratings. S&P Global Ratings gives ratings from AAA through to C.

As at the date of this Offer Document, the Notes have been assigned a credit rating of BBB+ by S&P Global Ratings.

The credit rating assigned by S&P Global Ratings to the Notes may be withdrawn or lowered at any time, reflecting a change in the credit rating agency's view of the creditworthiness of Westpac.

S&P Global Ratings has placed the Australian government's credit rating on negative outlook and, as a consequence, S&P Global Ratings has also placed the senior long term credit rating of all four major Australian banks (including Westpac) on negative outlook.

See section 6.2 'Specific risks relating to Westpac's creditworthiness' for further detail on the risks relating to Westpac's creditworthiness.

Range of long-term issue credit ratings for S&P Global Ratings	AAA	AA	A	BBB Credit rating for the Notes BBB+*	BB	B	CCC	CC to C	D
Summary description of the rating	Capacity to meet financial commitment				Vulnerability to non-payment
	Extremely strong	Very strong	Strong	Adequate	Less vulnerable	More vulnerable	Currently vulnerable	Currently highly vulnerable	In default

* S&P Global Ratings' ratings from "AA" to "CCC" may be modified by the addition of a plus (+) or minus sign (-) to show relative standing within the major rating categories.

Trading your Notes on the NZX Debt Market

Westpac intends to quote the Notes on the NZX Debt Market. To be eligible to trade your Notes on the NZX Debt Market, you must have an account with a Primary Market Participant, a common shareholder number (CSN) and an authorisation code. If you do not have an account with a Primary Market Participant, you should be aware that opening an account can take a number of days depending on the Primary Market Participant's procedures.

If you do not have a CSN, you will be automatically assigned one. If you do not have an authorisation code, it is expected that you will be sent one by the Registrar. If you have an account with a Primary Market Participant and have not received an authorisation code by the date you want to trade your Notes, your Primary Market Participant can arrange to obtain your authorisation code from the Registrar. Your Primary Market Participant will be charged a fee for requesting your authorisation code from the Registrar and may pass this cost on to you.

You may only transfer your Notes in multiples of NZ$1,000 and after any transfer you and the transferee must each hold Notes with an aggregate principal amount of at least NZ$5,000 (or no Notes).

You will likely have to pay brokerage on any transfer of Notes you make through a Primary Market Participant.

4.1 Purpose of the Offer and use of the funds raised

Westpac is issuing the Notes to raise regulatory capital which satisfies the requirements of APRA. The Notes will be treated as Tier 2 Capital for the Westpac Group by APRA. The proceeds received under this Offer will be used by Westpac for general business purposes.

The use of the money raised under the Offer is not dependent on the total amount that is raised. The Offer is not underwritten.

4.2 APRA's regulatory capital requirements

This section sets out background information about APRA's regulatory capital requirements and how they apply to Westpac. It also describes briefly Westpac's approach to capital management.

Regulatory capital requirements

APRA is the prudential regulator of the Australian financial services industry. It oversees banks (such as Westpac), credit unions, building societies, general insurance and reinsurance companies, life insurers, friendly societies and most members of the superannuation industry.

APRA's Prudential Standards aim to ensure that ADIs remain adequately capitalised to support the risks associated with their activities and to generally protect Australian depositors.

APRA's risk-based capital adequacy guidelines are generally consistent with the International Regulatory Framework for Banks, also known as Basel III, issued by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision (BCBS), except where APRA has exercised certain discretions. On balance, the application of these discretions acts to reduce capital ratios reported under APRA's Prudential Standards relative to the BCBS approach and to those reported in some other jurisdictions.

APRA measures an ADI's regulatory capital using the following three measures:

- Common Equity Tier 1 Capital which comprises the highest quality components of capital consisting of paid-up share capital, retained profits and certain reserves, less certain intangible assets, capitalised expenses and software, and investments and retained profits in insurance and funds management subsidiaries that are not consolidated for capital adequacy purposes.
- Tier 1 Capital which is the sum of Common Equity Tier 1 Capital and Additional Tier 1 Capital. Additional Tier 1 Capital comprises high quality components of capital consisting of certain securities not included in Common Equity Tier 1 Capital, but which include loss absorbing characteristics.
- Total Capital which is the sum of Tier 1 Capital and Tier 2 Capital. Tier 2 Capital, such as the Notes, includes other components of capital that, to varying degrees, do not meet the criteria for Tier 1 Capital, but nonetheless contribute to the overall strength of an ADI and its capacity to absorb losses.

APRA's Basel III Prudential Standards require Australian banks (including Westpac) to maintain minimum ratios of capital to risk weighted assets of at least 4.5% Common Equity Tier 1 Capital, 6% Tier 1 Capital and 8% Total Capital. APRA also requires ADIs, including Westpac, to meet prudential capital requirements (PCRs) which may be above the minimum capital ratios. APRA does not allow the PCRs to be disclosed.

From 1 January 2016, APRA required Australian banks to hold capital buffers above minimum capital requirements. At 31 March 2016, the capital conservation buffer (CCB) applicable to Westpac equals 3.5% of risk weighted assets, and includes a 2.5% base requirement and 1% surcharge for Domestic Systemically Important Banks (D-SIB). The CCB is required to be met wholly by Common Equity Tier 1 Capital.

At APRA's discretion, a further countercyclical buffer of between 0% and 2.5% of risk weighted assets may be applied. This would require Westpac to hold additional capital. The countercyclical buffer requirement is currently set to zero for Australia and New Zealand.

APRA's website at www.apra.gov.au includes further details of its functions and the Prudential Standards.

Westpac's capital ratios are significantly above APRA minimum capital adequacy requirements (see the table below). Westpac is required to inform APRA immediately of any breach or potential breach of its minimum prudential capital adequacy requirements, including details of remedial action taken or planned to be taken.

	Reported 31 March 2016	Combined APRA minimum capital adequacy requirement and CCB
Capital ratios (Level 2)
Common Equity Tier 1 Capital Ratio	10.5%	8.0%
Additional Tier 1 Capital Ratio	1.6%
Tier 1 Capital Ratio	12.1%	9.5%
Tier 2 Capital Ratio	1.9%
Total Capital Ratio	14.0%	11.5%

Changes to Westpac's capital ratios

The table above sets out Westpac's reported key capital ratios (at Level 2) as at 31 March 2016. Subsequent to 31 March 2016, a number of factors will have an impact on these reported capital ratios in respect of future reporting periods, including:

- the payment of Westpac's interim dividend for the period ending on 31 March 2016 (reducing the Common Equity Tier 1 Capital Ratio by approximately 0.8%);
- a change in the way APRA calculates risk weighted assets for Australian residential mortgages, including new models for assessing mortgages in hardship;
- Westpac's earnings since 31 March 2016; and
- various other impacts (for example, IRRBB, movements in foreign exchange rates).

Westpac's preferred capital range

Westpac's preferred range for its Common Equity Tier 1 Capital Ratio is 8.75% to 9.25%. This preferred range takes into consideration:

- current regulatory minimums;
- the CCB (including Westpac's D-SIB surcharge) which came into effect on 1 January 2016;
- stress testing to calibrate an appropriate buffer against a downturn; and
- quarterly volatility of capital ratios under Basel III due to the half yearly cycle of dividend payments.

KEY FEATURES OF THE NOTES

A number of key features of the Notes are described in section 3 (Terms of the Offer). The other key features of the Notes are described below.

5.1 Overview comparison of the Notes with certain other Westpac investments or products

The Notes are different from Westpac's other investments and products. You should consider these differences in light of your investment objectives, financial situation and particular needs (including financial and taxation considerations) before deciding whether to invest in the Notes.

You should note that most of the other investments or products described below for comparison purposes with the Notes are not necessarily available to investors in New Zealand. In particular, you should note that Westpac Capital Notes 3 were not offered in New Zealand, and that the Westpac Savings Account and Westpac Term Deposit described below are offered by Westpac in Australia and may differ from investments or products offered by Westpac New Zealand Limited in New Zealand.

	Westpac Savings Account	Westpac Term Deposit	The Notes	Westpac Capital Notes 3	Westpac Shares

5.2 Interest and Term

Fixed interest rate reset after 5 years

The interest rate payable on the Notes will be fixed for 5 years from the Issue Date to the First Optional Redemption Date when it will be reset for another 5 years. There is a risk that the interest rate that is set on the First Optional Redemption Date will be lower than the interest rate which applies for the first 5 years of the Notes, or lower than the interest rate that applies to other comparable debt or capital instruments with an equivalent term at the First Optional Redemption Date.

Optional early redemption

The Notes have a term of 10 years and are scheduled to be repaid on the Maturity Date (being 1 September 2026). However, Westpac may at its option:

- repay some or all of the Notes on any Interest Payment Date on or after the Interest Payment Date falling on the First Optional Redemption Date (being 1 September 2021); and
- repay all (but not some only) of the Notes on an Interest Payment Date following the occurrence of a Regulatory Event or Tax Event.

Early repayment is subject to certain conditions, including:

- APRA's prior written approval (which APRA may not provide);
- that the Notes are replaced with a capital instrument of the same or better quality for regulatory purposes, or APRA confirms that it is satisfied that the Notes do not have to be replaced;
- Westpac satisfying the solvency condition; and
- Westpac giving the Registrar, holders and NZX at least 15 Business Days' notice (and not more than 45 Business Days' notice).

In general terms:

- a Tax Event will occur if Westpac determines that, as a result of any change in Australian or New Zealand tax legislation which has been or will be effected (including any judicial decisions or official action taken in connection with Australian or New Zealand tax legislation) after the Issue Date (but which Westpac did not expect at the Issue Date), there is a material risk that Westpac would be exposed to an adverse tax consequence in relation to the Notes; and
- a Regulatory Event is an event which results in Westpac not being entitled to treat all of the Notes as Tier 2 Capital under the Prudential Standards, as a consequence of, among other things, any change in law or regulation of Australia or the Prudential Standards that will be introduced (including any judicial decisions or official action) after the Issue Date (but which Westpac did not expect at the Issue Date), or any written confirmation from APRA after the Issue Date.

You have no right to request early redemption, and you should not assume that Westpac will elect to repay the Notes prior to the Maturity Date. Moreover, there is no certainty that APRA would, if requested, provide its approval in respect of any early redemption.

5.3 Payments subject to solvency condition

Prior to a Winding-Up of Westpac, Westpac's obligation to make any payment in respect of the Notes (including any payment of principal or interest) is subject to Westpac satisfying the solvency condition on the relevant payment date. Westpac will satisfy the solvency condition if (i) it is Solvent at the time the payment falls due (that is, it is able to pay its debts as they fall due and its Assets exceed its Liabilities); and (ii) it will remain Solvent immediately after making the payment.

If Westpac does not pay an amount on the Notes because it has not satisfied the solvency condition, Westpac must pay that amount on the first date on which it is able to make the payment and satisfy the solvency condition (which does not need to be an Interest Payment Date).

If Westpac fails to make a payment because it has not satisfied the solvency condition, this will not be an Event of Default (see section 5.6, 'Events of Default', for further information on Events of Default in respect of the Notes).

So long as the Notes have not been Converted or Written Off, interest will continue to accrue on any interest that is not paid when scheduled as a result of Westpac not satisfying the solvency condition on the relevant payment date.

5.4 Conversion and Write Off

Conversion and Write Off following a Non-Viability Trigger Event

If a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs, some or all of the Notes may be Converted into Westpac Shares.

A Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs if APRA notifies Westpac in writing that it believes:

- the Conversion of some or all of the Notes, or conversion, write off or write down of all or some capital instruments of the Westpac Group; or
- a public sector injection of capital or equivalent support,

is, in each case, necessary because, without it, Westpac would become non-viable.

Whether a Non-Viability Trigger Event will occur is at the discretion of APRA. APRA has not provided guidance on when it will consider an entity to be non-viable and there are currently no Australian precedents for this. However, it is likely that APRA will consider an entity to be non-viable when, for example, the entity is suffering from significant financial stress, is insolvent or cannot raise money in the public or private markets. You do not have a right to request a Conversion of the Notes to Westpac Shares at any time.

If any Notes are Converted following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, it is likely that the Maximum Conversion Number will apply and limit the number of Westpac Shares to be issued. In this case, the value of the Westpac Shares received is likely to be significantly less than the aggregate principal amount of those Notes. Following Conversion, there is no certainty as to the future value of the Westpac Shares.

If, for any reason, the Conversion of any Notes required to be Converted does not occur within 5 ASX Business Days after the Non-Viability Trigger Event Date, then your rights in relation to such Notes (including the right to interest (including any accrual interest), the repayment of such Notes and to have the Notes converted into Westpac Shares) are immediately and irrevocably Written Off and are terminated. In such an event your investment will lose all of its value and you will not receive any compensation.

How many Westpac Shares are issued on Conversion?

If the Notes are Converted, Westpac will issue to you the Conversion Number of Westpac Shares for each Note that you held that is Converted unless the Maximum Conversion Number applies.

Conversion Number

Upon Conversion, you will receive a variable number of Westpac Shares for each Note that you hold calculated using the following formula unless the Maximum Conversion Number applies:

Conversion Date Face Value 0.99 x VWAP Conversion Date Face Value: the principal amount of each Note (being NZ$1.00 per Note) converted into Australian Dollars at the spot rate of exchange for the sale of Australian Dollars against the purchase of New Zealand Dollars in the Sydney foreign exchange market as at the time of Conversion VWAP: the daily volume weighted average sale price (VWAP) of Westpac Shares during the VWAP Period (as adjusted in accordance with the Conditions) VWAP Period: the period of 5 ASX Business Days on which trading in Westpac Shares took place immediately preceding (but not including) the Non-Viability Trigger Event Date

The Conversion Number formula is intended to operate so that you will receive Westpac Shares worth the Australian Dollar equivalent (based on the spot rate of exchange at the time of Conversion) of approximately NZ$1.01 for each Note that is Converted³.

³ This includes the benefit of a 1% discount on the VWAP which is intended to assist you in covering the potential transaction costs of selling the Westpac Shares issued to you on Conversion.

Conversion limited to Maximum Conversion Number

However, you will likely receive significantly less than the Australian Dollar equivalent of NZ$1.01 worth of Westpac Shares when the Notes are Converted because:

- the VWAP of Westpac Shares during the VWAP Period may differ from the Westpac Share price on the Conversion Date;
- the number of Westpac Shares you will receive for each of those Notes on Conversion is limited by the Maximum Conversion Number, which is based on 20% of the Issue Date VWAP (as defined below)⁴. It is likely that the Maximum Conversion Number will apply if a Non-Viability Trigger Event has occurred and limit the number of Westpac Shares to be issued; and
- the Australian Dollar may depreciate in value against the New Zealand Dollar by the Conversion Date. In this case, the Maximum Conversion Number is more likely to apply (see Impact of movements in NZ$/A$ exchange rate on Conversion below).

In addition, if the total number of Westpac Shares to be issued to you following a Non-Viability Trigger Event includes a fraction of a Westpac Share, that fraction will be disregarded.

The Maximum Conversion Number is calculated using the following formula:

Issue Date Face Value

$$\mathbf{0.20 \times \text{Issue Date VWAP}}$$

Issue Date Face Value: the principal amount of each Note (being NZ$1.00 per Note) converted into Australian Dollars at the spot rate of exchange for the sale of Australian Dollars against the purchase of New Zealand Dollars in the Sydney foreign exchange market as at the time of the issue of the Notes

Issue Date VWAP: the VWAP of Westpac Shares for the 20 ASX Business Days on which trading in Westpac Shares took place immediately preceding, but not including, the Issue Date (as adjusted in accordance with the Conditions)

Adjustments

The Maximum Conversion Number may be adjusted up or down to reflect transactions affecting the capital of Westpac, including bonus issues, share splits, consolidations or other similar transactions not involving any cash payment to or by Westpac Shareholders. However, it does not include other transactions which may affect the price of Westpac Shares, including, for example, rights issues, returns of capital, buy-backs or special dividends.

⁴ Indicatively, a fall in the price of Westpac Shares of approximately 80% (or more) would be likely to result in the number of Westpac Shares you would receive on Conversion being limited to the Maximum Conversion Number if the A$/NZ$ exchange rate was the same as at the time of issue. However, depending on the A$/NZ$ exchange rate at the time of Conversion, a fall in the price of Westpac Shares of less than 80% may also result in the Maximum Conversion Number applying.

Example: where the Maximum Conversion Number limits the number of Westpac Shares issued

The example below assumes the following:

- an Issue Date VWAP of A$30.00;
- a holding of 10,000 Notes with an aggregate principal amount of NZ$10,000;
- a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs resulting in Conversion;
- a VWAP at the time of Conversion of A$2.00, meaning that the VWAP has fallen by approximately 93%;
- an exchange rate of NZ$1 = A$0.90 at the time of issue and at Conversion (i.e., unchanged), so that the Australian Dollar equivalent of the principal amount of each Note at the time of issue and on Conversion is A$0.90. However, as noted below, this may not be the case. See below, 'Impact of movements in NZ$/A$ exchange rate on Conversion', and section 6.3.1, 'Specific risks associated with a Non-Viability Trigger Event', for further details.

$$\text{Conversion Number} = \frac{\text{A$0.90}}{0.99 \times \text{A$2.00}} = 0.4545 \text{ Westpac Shares per Note}$$ which exceeds

$$\text{Maximum Conversion Number} = \frac{\text{A$0.90}}{0.20 \times \text{A$30.00}} = 0.1500 \text{ Westpac Shares per Note}$$ and so the Maximum Conversion Number of Westpac Shares applies.

In this example the Maximum Conversion Number is less than the Conversion Number, which means the total number of Westpac Shares which a holder of 10,000 Notes would be entitled to receive would be the Maximum Conversion Number of 0.15 multiplied by 10,000 Notes, that is 1,500 Westpac Shares.

If the prevailing Westpac Share price is equal to the VWAP of A$2.00, this is A$3,000 or NZ$3,333.33 worth of Westpac Shares (assuming an exchange rate of NZ$1 = A$0.90, i.e., A$3,000/0.9). This is considerably less than NZ$10,000 (the aggregate principal amount of 10,000 Notes).

The example above is for illustrative purposes only. The figures in it are not forward looking statements and do not indicate, guarantee or forecast the Issue Date VWAP, the future VWAP, any other price of Westpac Shares or the NZ$/A$ exchange rate at the time of Conversion or on any other date that an exchange rate calculation is done.

Impact of movements in NZ$/A$ exchange rate on Conversion

The example above assumes that the exchange rate is unchanged from the time of issue to the time of Conversion. However, you should note that any depreciation of the Australian Dollar against the New Zealand Dollar by the Conversion Date will increase the likelihood of the Maximum Conversion Number applying on Conversion and will likely also reduce the New Zealand Dollar equivalent of Westpac Shares received, particularly if such depreciation is significant. This is because:

- the Maximum Conversion Number is based on an Issue Date VWAP in Australian Dollars and the New Zealand Dollar principal amount of each Note converted to Australian Dollars based on the spot rate of exchange at the time of issue; and
- the Conversion Number is based on the VWAP in Australian Dollars at the time of Conversion and the New Zealand Dollar principal amount of each Note converted to Australian Dollars based on the spot rate of exchange at the time of Conversion.

Conversion where you do not wish to receive Westpac Shares or are an Ineligible Holder

If you notify Westpac that you do not wish to receive Westpac Shares upon Conversion, then, on the Conversion Date, your rights (including to payments of interest and repayment of the principal amount of the Notes) will be immediately and irrevocably terminated. Such a notice may be given after the Issue Date and no less than 15 Business Days prior to the Conversion Date.

Westpac will then issue the relevant number of Westpac Shares to one or more Nominees to hold on trust for sale for your benefit.

Given the 15 Business Day notice period required and that a Conversion Date could be determined without notice, you should notify Westpac promptly after purchase if you do not wish to receive Westpac Shares upon any Conversion.

Separately, if you are not a resident of Australia or New Zealand at the time of the Conversion, or are otherwise not permitted by any applicable Australian law to hold Westpac Shares because you are an Ineligible Holder, then, on the Conversion Date, the relevant number of Westpac Shares will be issued to one or more Nominees to hold on trust for sale for your benefit.

In each case the Nominee will sell the Westpac Shares issued to them at the first opportunity at market value. The proceeds of the sale less selling costs will be paid to you or the relevant holders (as applicable).

If Westpac is prevented from issuing the Westpac Shares to a Nominee within 5 ASX Business Days, then the Notes will be Written Off and your rights and the rights of the relevant holders will be immediately and irrevocably terminated.

Your investment will lose all of its value and you will not receive any compensation.

5.5 Receipt of Westpac Shares on Conversion

Westpac Shares

The Westpac Shares into which the Notes are to be Converted in the event of a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurring are expected to be of the same class as the ordinary shares of Westpac that are currently quoted on ASX and the NZX Main Board.

Rights in respect of Westpac Shares

The rights attaching to Westpac Shares are set out in Westpac's constitution, the ASX Listing Rules and the Corporations Act. A copy of Westpac's constitution may be obtained from the Disclose Register at www.business.govt.nz/disclose.

Westpac Shareholders are entitled to receive such dividends on Westpac Shares as may be determined by Westpac. Dividends must only be paid in accordance with applicable laws and Westpac's constitution.

In addition, dividends would not be payable if making such a payment would breach or cause a breach by Westpac of applicable capital adequacy or other supervisory requirements of APRA, or if Westpac was directed by APRA not to pay a dividend under the Australian Banking Act.

Subject to the preferential entitlement (if any) of preference shareholders, Westpac Shareholders may be entitled to a share in any surplus assets on a Winding-Up of Westpac.

Westpac Shareholders are entitled to receive notice of, attend and vote at general meetings of Westpac. Each Westpac Shareholder present at a general meeting (whether in person or by proxy or representative) is entitled to one vote on a show of hands or, on a poll, one vote for each Westpac Share held.

Transfers

Transfers of Westpac Shares are not effective until registered. Subject to the ASX Listing Rules, Westpac may refuse to register a transfer of Westpac Shares without giving any reasons. However, the ASX Listing Rules substantially restrict when Westpac may refuse to register a transfer.

You should be aware that the issue, or any transfer, of Westpac Shares may result in or contribute to a contravention of shareholding laws in Australia, including the takeover provisions of the Corporations Act, the Foreign Acquisitions and Takeovers Act 1975 of Australia, the Financial Sector (Shareholdings) Act 1998 of Australia or any other law in force relating to shareholdings. In very general terms, those Acts limit the acquisition by persons of interests in Westpac Shares where the person acquires interests in Westpac Shares in excess of limits permitted under those Acts. Primary liability for non-compliance rests on the holder.

Currency

If the Notes are Converted to Westpac Shares, Westpac intends that the Westpac Shares will be quoted on ASX in Australian Dollars and if you sell any Westpac Shares issued to you on Conversion, the proceeds are likely to be in Australian Dollars. The exchange rate between New Zealand Dollars and Australian Dollars may fluctuate and these changes may be significant. You may also incur fees exchanging amounts received in Australian Dollars into New Zealand Dollars.

5.6 Events of Default

The Events of Default in respect of the Notes are very limited, and your rights are restricted if an Event of Default occurs.

The Events of Default are limited to:

- a failure by Westpac to pay:
 - any amount of principal in respect of a Note within 7 Business Days of the Maturity Date; or
 - any amount of interest in respect of a Note within 14 Business Days of the due date for payment of that amount,unless, prior to the commencement of a Winding-Up, the failure to pay is as a consequence of Westpac not satisfying the solvency condition; or
- a Winding-Up occurs in respect of Westpac in Australia.

In the case of an Event of Default which arises as a result of non-payment of principal or interest, you may bring proceedings:

- to recover any amount then due and payable but unpaid on that Note (subject to Westpac being able to make the payment and remain Solvent);
- to obtain an order for specific performance of any other obligation in respect of that Note; or
- for a Winding-Up of Westpac.

In the case of an Event of Default which arises as a result of the occurrence of a Winding-Up in Australia, the Notes will become immediately due and payable. However, you will have no remedy against Westpac other than, subject to the subordination provisions relating to the Notes, to prove or claim in any Winding-Up in Australia.

5.7 Ranking

The Notes are subordinated, and rank equally with certain of Westpac's other subordinated obligations.

Accordingly, in a Winding-Up of Westpac (if the Notes have not been redeemed or, following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, Converted or Written Off), there is a risk that you may lose some or all of the money you invested in the Notes. This is because if there are insufficient assets to satisfy Senior Creditors, whose claims rank ahead of the Notes, you will not be repaid the principal amount of the Notes and you will not receive any interest payments (or any other amounts) due and unpaid at that time.

Even if there are sufficient assets to satisfy Senior Creditors, whose claims rank ahead of the Notes, there is still a risk that you may not be repaid some or all of the principal amount of the Notes as there may be insufficient assets to satisfy Westpac's obligation to repay the principal amount of the Notes and other Equal Ranking Instruments.

The diagram below summarises the ranking of the Notes in a Winding-Up of Westpac where the Notes have not been Converted or Written Off. The diagram is a summary of indicative amounts only and in the event of a Winding-Up of Westpac, the actual priority amounts may differ.

You should note that it is unlikely that, in practice, a Winding-Up of Westpac will occur without a Non-Viability Trigger Event having occurred first and the Notes being Converted or Written Off. In that event:

- if the Notes have Converted into Westpac Shares, holders will rank equally with existing Westpac Shareholders (i.e., you will rank equally with "Equity" in the diagram below); and
- if the Notes are Written Off, all rights in relation to the Notes will be terminated, and holders will not have their capital repaid or receive any outstanding interest, or have the right to have Notes converted into Westpac Shares.

⁶ Amounts shown are indicative based on the financial position of Westpac as at 31 March 2016, adjusted only to reflect the issue of Notes.

⁷ For the purposes of these calculations an offer size of NZ$250 million has been assumed, converted into Australian Dollars (A$) at a rate of NZ$1 = A$0.93 as at 18 July 2016. If the final size of the issue is greater than this then the amount shown in the table for the Notes will increase in line with the increased size of the issue (subject to the relevant NZ$/A$ exchange rate), but the other amounts shown in the table that rank equally with or ahead of the Notes in a Winding-Up of Westpac are not expected to change.

⁸ Westpac TPS were redeemed on 30 June 2016.

⁹ See section 4.2, 'APRA's regulatory capital requirements', for further information. Typically, the value of Westpac's Common Equity Tier 1 Capital is lower than the value of shareholders' equity reported in Westpac's financial statements.

No restriction on incurring indebtedness

There are no restrictions on Westpac creating further liabilities after the issue of the Notes. Accordingly, Westpac may continue to borrow or raise additional debt, or otherwise incur liabilities, from time to time without your consent, that:

- rank equally with the Notes. This may include further issues of other unsecured, subordinated notes or bonds, and other unsecured, subordinated borrowings of Westpac; or
- rank in priority to the Notes. This may include unsecured, unsubordinated notes or bonds, secured notes or bonds, covered bonds, other secured borrowing of Westpac, and liabilities preferred by law.

Such further liabilities may reduce the amount recoverable by you in the case of a Winding-Up of Westpac.

Variation of the Notes if successor holding company

In the event that it is proposed that Westpac be replaced as the ultimate holding company of the Westpac Group by an Approved Successor, then, provided certain conditions are satisfied and APRA's prior written approval is obtained, Westpac may make amendments to the Conditions to effect the substitution of the Approved Successor as the debtor in respect of the Notes and as the issuer of any ordinary shares on Conversion. Your consent to such amendments will not be required.

In such an event you will be obliged to accept Approved Successor Shares rather than Westpac Shares on Conversion. The financial position, including the profits and net assets, of the Approved Successor may be different to those of Westpac.

Meetings and variation of the Notes

Meetings of holders may be called to consider matters affecting their interests generally. In such meetings, defined majorities may bind you and all other holders, even if you did not attend and vote at the relevant meeting or voted in a manner contrary to the majority.

The Notes may also be varied without your consent in certain limited circumstances, including if (in the opinion of Westpac) the variation is necessary or advisable to comply with any law, is of a formal, minor or technical nature, is made to cure any ambiguity or does not materially adversely affect the rights of holders. The variation of the Notes is subject to APRA's prior written approval if the amendment would affect the eligibility of the Notes as Tier 2 Capital.

No Set Off

Neither Westpac nor you as holder of any Notes, is entitled to set off any amounts due in respect of the Notes against any amount of any nature owed by Westpac to you, or by you to Westpac (as applicable).

Transfers

The Note Deed Poll sets out the process as to how you may sell or transfer any of the Notes, in particular that transfers that would result in the transferee holding Notes with an aggregate principal amount of less than NZ$5,000, or in an amount that is not a multiple of NZ$1,000, will not be allowed.

06

RISKS OF INVESTING

Section 6 describes the following potential risks associated with an investment in the Notes:

- general risks (see section 6.1);
- specific risks relating to Westpac's creditworthiness (see section 6.2); and
- risks associated with the Notes (see section 6.3). This covers specific risks in connection with a Non-Viability Trigger Event and other key risks in connection with the Notes.

Key risks outlined in this section are based on an assessment of the probability of a risk occurring and the potential impact if it did occur. This assessment is as at the date of this Offer Document. There is no guarantee or assurance that key risks will not change, alter in their significance or that other risks will not emerge.

Where practicable, Westpac seeks to implement risk mitigation strategies to minimise exposure to some of the risks outlined below. However, there can be no assurance that these risk mitigation strategies will fully protect Westpac from all or any risks.

Investors should carefully consider these risk factors (together with the other information in this Offer Document) before deciding whether to invest in the Notes. This summary does not cover all of the risks of investing in the Notes.

Before making any investment decision it is important that investors consider the suitability of an investment in the Notes in light of their own individual risk profile for investments, investment objectives and personal circumstances (including financial and taxation issues). The risks described in this section do not take account of the personal circumstances, financial position or investment requirements of any particular person other than the Westpac Group.

6.1 General Risks

An investment in the Notes is subject to the following general risks:

- Westpac encounters severe financial difficulty or becomes insolvent and is unable to meet its obligations under the Notes, including the obligations to pay interest on, and repay the principal amount of, the Notes; and
- if holders wish to sell their Notes before maturity:
 - o the price at which they are able to sell their Notes is less than the amount they paid for the Notes due to market interest rate movements or other reasons; or
 - o they are unable to sell their Notes at all due to lack of demand or because the Notes cease to be quoted on the NZX Debt Market.

Further explanation of each of these general risks is contained below.

6.1.1 General risks related to Westpac encountering severe financial difficulty or Westpac's insolvency

If Westpac encounters severe financial difficulty or becomes insolvent, this will likely:

- result in Westpac not being able to satisfy the solvency condition on a scheduled Interest Payment Date (including the Maturity Date). As a consequence, the payment will be delayed until the first date on which Westpac is able to make the payment and satisfy the solvency condition (which does not need to be an Interest Payment Date); or
- result in a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurring, meaning that some or all of the Notes may be Converted into Westpac Shares or Written Off.

If any of the Notes are Converted following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, the value of the Westpac Shares received is likely to be significantly less than the aggregate principal amount of the Notes held, especially given that the number of Westpac Shares received for each of the Notes will be limited to the Maximum Conversion Number (see section 5.4, 'How many Westpac Shares are issued on Conversion?', for further details).

If, instead, any of the Notes are Written Off, then holders will receive nothing further in relation to the Notes, their rights under them (including the right to interest (including any accrual interest), the repayment of such Notes and to have the Notes converted into Westpac Shares) will be terminated and they will lose all of their investment in them.

6.1.2 General risks related to the market for the Notes

- Market price: The price at which holders are able to sell their Notes may be affected by a number of factors, both dependent on, or independent of, the creditworthiness of Westpac. It is possible that the Notes will trade at a market price above or below the principal amount of the Notes as a result of such factors.
- Changes in interest rates: As the Notes have a fixed interest rate, changes in market interest rates may also affect the price at which holders can sell their Notes. If market interest rates go up, the market value of the Notes would typically be expected to go down and vice versa.
- Liquidity: There can be no assurance that a secondary market for the Notes will develop or of the liquidity of such a market. The market for the Notes will likely be less liquid than the market for Westpac Shares. In the absence of a liquid secondary market for the Notes, holders may not be able to sell their Notes readily or at prices that will enable them to realise a yield comparable to that of similar instruments, if any, within a developed secondary market. Even following the development of a secondary market, and depending on market conditions and other factors, holders seeking to sell relatively small or relatively large amounts of Notes may not be able to do so at prices comparable to those that may be available to other holders.

Due to these factors the Notes may not be readily saleable, their value may fluctuate over time and such fluctuations may be significant and could result in losses to a holder who wishes to sell Notes prior to the Maturity Date.

6.1.3 Change of risk profile if Notes Convert into Westpac Shares

If or when the Notes Convert into Westpac Shares, the risks in respect of your investment will change significantly.

Your investment will be subject to the same general risks that apply to other holders of Westpac Shares if the Notes Convert into Westpac Shares, including:

- if Westpac is wound up, you will rank equally with other existing Westpac Shareholders, and you will be paid only after all creditors and, if applicable, holders of preference shares have been paid (see section 5.7, 'Ranking', for further details);
- you may lose some of or all of your investment; and
- you may not have a chance to sell your Westpac Shares.

6.2 Specific risks relating to Westpac's creditworthiness

Westpac's business is subject to risks that can, whether alone or in combination, adversely impact its financial performance, financial condition and future performance. These risks are relevant to an investment in the Notes and Westpac Shares as the value of such an investment will depend on Westpac's financial condition and future performance, regardless of when or if the Notes are redeemed, or, in the event of a Non-Viability Trigger Event, Converted or Written Off.

6.2.1 Compliance and Regulatory Change

Westpac operates and obtains funding in multiple jurisdictions. As a consequence, it is subject to a range of different legal, regulatory and supervisory frameworks. Westpac is also supervised by a number of different regulatory and supervisory authorities which have broad administrative powers over its businesses.

Westpac also faces increasing supervision and regulation in most of the jurisdictions in which it operates or obtains funding, particularly in the areas of funding, liquidity, capital adequacy, conduct and prudential regulation, anti-bribery and corruption, anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing and trade sanctions.

Should Westpac fail to comply with all applicable laws and regulations, or should a supervisory body or authority take action against Westpac, this could adversely affect Westpac's business.

Regulatory changes may impact Westpac's operations by requiring Westpac to maintain higher levels of liquidity and capital adequacy, increase the amount of long term funding, amend its corporate structure or alter its product or service offerings. If regulatory change has any such effect, it could adversely affect one or more of Westpac's businesses, restrict Westpac's flexibility, require Westpac to incur substantial costs and impact the profitability of one or more of Westpac's business lines. Any such costs or restrictions could adversely affect Westpac's business, prospects, financial performance or financial condition.

6.2.2 Availability and cost of funding

Westpac relies on deposits and credit and capital markets to fund its business and as a source of liquidity. Westpac's liquidity and costs of obtaining funding are related to credit and capital market conditions.

Global credit and capital markets can experience periods of extreme volatility, disruption and decreased liquidity. The main risks Westpac faces are damage to market confidence, changes to the access to and cost of funding, and a slowing in global activity or other impacts on entities with whom Westpac does business.

If market conditions deteriorate due to economic, financial, political or other reasons, there may also be a loss of confidence in bank deposits and Westpac could experience unexpected deposit withdrawals. In this situation Westpac's funding costs may be adversely affected and its liquidity, funding and lending activities may be constrained. Such constraints could adversely affect Westpac's business, prospects, liquidity, capital resources, financial performance or financial condition.

Westpac's credit ratings can also affect the cost and availability of its funding from capital markets and other funding sources. They may also be important to customers or counterparties when evaluating Westpac's products and services.

Failure to maintain Westpac's current credit ratings could adversely affect Westpac's cost of funds and related margins, collateral requirements, liquidity, competitive position and its access to capital markets. The extent and nature of these impacts would depend on various factors, including the extent of any ratings change, whether Westpac's ratings differ among agencies (split ratings) and whether any ratings changes also impact Westpac's competitors or the sector.

6.2.3 Financial market volatility

Westpac could be adversely affected by disruptions to global financial markets or other financial market volatility. Westpac is exposed to market risk as a consequence of its trading activities in financial markets and through the asset and liability management of its financial position. Changes in market factors, such as foreign exchange rates, interest rates, commodity prices and equity prices could adversely impact on Westpac's earnings.

There is also a risk that foreign governments will default on their debt obligations, will be unable to refinance their debts as they fall due or will nationalise parts of their economy including assets of financial institutions such as Westpac. Sovereign defaults could have a negative impact on the value of Westpac's holdings of high quality liquid assets. There may also be a cascading effect to other markets and countries. The consequences of this are difficult to predict, but they may be similar to, or worse than, those experienced during the global financial crisis. Such an event could destabilise global financial markets.

If Westpac were to suffer substantial losses due to any market volatility, it may adversely affect its business, prospects, liquidity, capital resources, financial performance or financial condition.

6.2.4 Economic conditions, asset values and credit losses

There is a risk that a major systemic shock could occur that causes an adverse impact on the Australian, New Zealand or other financial systems. Such a shock could also result in a decline in Australian, New Zealand or other asset markets.

The impact of such a shock could result in the undermining of confidence in the financial system, reducing liquidity, impairing Westpac's access to funding and impairing Westpac's customers and counterparties and their businesses. If this were to occur, Westpac's business, prospects, financial performance or financial condition could be adversely affected.

A deterioration in economic conditions or a decline in asset prices could result in some customers and/or counterparties experiencing higher levels of financial stress and impact on the value of security Westpac holds. As a consequence Westpac may experience a significant increase in defaults and write offs, and be required to increase its provisioning. In addition a decline in asset prices would impact on Westpac's ability to recover amounts owing to it in the event of a customer or counterparty default. Such events would diminish available capital and could adversely affect Westpac's liquidity, capital resources, financial performance or financial condition.

6.2.5 Risks affecting Westpac's business generally

Westpac may be adversely affected by events that relate to its business operations generally. These include changes in competition, technology failures (including cyberattacks), fraud, supplier failures, environmental factors, reputational damage and other operational or conduct risks.

6.2.6 Risk of possible downgrade of the credit rating of the Notes

The credit rating assigned by S&P Global Ratings to the Notes may be withdrawn or lowered at any time, reflecting a change in S&P Global Ratings' view of the creditworthiness of Westpac. Such changes may affect the market price and liquidity of the Notes.

S&P Global Ratings has placed the Australian government's credit rating on negative outlook and, as a consequence, S&P Global Ratings has also placed the senior long term credit rating of all four major Australian banks (including Westpac) on negative outlook.

While this does not currently change S&P Global Ratings' credit rating for the Notes, the fact that Westpac has been placed on negative outlook by S&P Global Ratings increases the risk that Westpac's senior long term credit rating could be downgraded by S&P Global Ratings.

Westpac cannot predict what steps, if any, that S&P Global Ratings may take in relation to the credit rating for the Notes. However, it is possible as a consequence of the circumstances that have led S&P Global Ratings to place Westpac on negative outlook that the credit rating for the Notes could be downgraded.

Separately, other credit rating agencies (including Fitch Ratings and Moody's Investors Service) also assign credit ratings to Westpac. It is possible that such other credit rating agencies may review their credit rating of Westpac.

In addition, the effect of one or more of the specific risks described above in this section 6.2, either individually or in combination, could be that the credit rating of the Notes is downgraded.

Further information about risks

A more detailed description of the risks that relate to Westpac's business operations generally is available in the "Directors' report" section (under a heading "Risk factors") of Westpac's current interim financial report which is available at www.westpac.com.au/investorcentre and www.business.govt.nz/disclose and forms part of the disclosure for purposes of this Offer Document.

6.3 Risks associated with the Notes

Set out below is a summary of the risks associated with the Notes. These cover specific risks in connection with a Non-Viability Trigger Event and, separately, other key risks in connection with the Notes. Further information about the features of the Notes is in section 5 (Key features of the Notes).

6.3.1 Specific risks associated with a Non-Viability Trigger Event

Notes may be Converted into Westpac Shares upon the occurrence of a Non-Viability Trigger Event

If a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs, some or all of the Notes may be Converted into Westpac Shares. If that occurs, it is likely that the Maximum Conversion Number will apply and limit the number of Westpac Shares to be issued. In this case, the value of the Westpac Shares received is likely to be significantly less than the aggregate principal amount of Notes held and you may lose a significant amount of the money you invested as a consequence.

Any depreciation of the Australian Dollar against the New Zealand Dollar by the Conversion Date will increase the likelihood of the Maximum Conversion Number applying on Conversion, particularly if such depreciation is significant. It will likely also reduce the New Zealand Dollar equivalent of Westpac Shares received. Following Conversion, there is no certainty as to the future value of the Westpac Shares.

See section 5.4, 'Conversion and Write Off following a Non-Viability Trigger Event', for further details.

The Notes will be Written Off if Conversion does not occur when required

If Conversion is required following a Non-Viability Trigger Event and the Notes are not Converted into Westpac Shares for any reason, then your rights in relation to such Notes (including the right to interest (including any accrual interest), the repayment of such Notes and to have the Notes converted into Westpac Shares) are immediately and irrevocably Written Off and are terminated. In such an event your investment will lose all of its value and you will not receive any compensation.

See section 5.4, 'Conversion and Write Off following a Non-Viability Trigger Event', for further details.

6.3.2 Other key risks associated with the Notes

Fixed Interest Rate reset after 5 Years

The interest rate on the Notes will be fixed for 5 years from the Issue Date to the First Optional Redemption Date when it will be reset for another 5 years. There is a risk that the interest rate that is set on the First Optional Redemption Date will be lower than the interest rate which applies for the first 5 years of the Notes, or lower than the interest rate that applies to other debt or capital instruments with an equivalent term at the First Optional Redemption Date.

You have no right to request early repayment

You cannot require Westpac to repay any of the Notes before their Maturity Date. In the event that a Winding-Up occurs in respect of Westpac in Australia, the Notes will become immediately due and payable. In such a case, your only remedy against Westpac will be, subject to the subordination provisions relating to the Notes, to prove or claim in any Winding-Up in Australia. Outside these limited circumstances, the only way that you can realise your investment is to sell the Notes on the NZX Debt Market at the prevailing market price, which may be less than the price at which the Notes were issued to you.

See section 5.2, 'Optional early redemption' and section 5.6, 'Events of Default', for further details.

Westpac may repay the Notes if certain events occur

Subject to certain conditions, Westpac has the right to pay back the Notes before the Maturity Date (being 1 September 2026) if a Regulatory Event or a Tax Event occurs, or on any Interest Payment Date on or after the Interest Payment Date falling on the First Optional Redemption Date (being 1 September 2021). Westpac may not repay Notes early unless it obtains APRA's prior written approval and certain other conditions are satisfied. There is no certainty that APRA would, if requested, provide its approval in respect of any early repayment. The timing or occurrence of an early repayment of the Notes may not coincide with your individual preferences.

See section 5.2, 'Optional early redemption', for further details.

No payment in respect of the Notes if Solvency condition not satisfied

The payment of amounts on the Notes is subject to Westpac satisfying the solvency condition on the relevant payment date. If Westpac fails to make a payment because it has not satisfied the solvency condition, this will not be an Event of Default, and you will not be able to take any action against Westpac unless an Event of Default subsequently occurs.

See section 5.3, 'Payments subject to Solvency condition', for further details.

Westpac may substitute a successor holding company as the issuer of ordinary shares on Conversion without your consent

Westpac may, subject to APRA's prior written approval and certain conditions being satisfied, be replaced as the ultimate holding company of the Westpac Group. In such an event, Westpac may make amendments to the terms of the Notes to effect the substitution of the Approved Successor as the debtor in respect of the Notes and as the issuer of any ordinary shares on Conversion. Your consent to such amendments will not be required and you will be obliged to accept Approved Successor Shares rather than Westpac Shares on Conversion. The financial position, including the profits and net assets, of the Approved Successor may be different to those of Westpac.

See section 5.8, 'Variation of the Notes if successor holding company', for further details.

No rights if control of Westpac changes

You do not have any rights to vote or object or take other action if a change of control is proposed or occurs in relation to Westpac. In particular, you have no right to require early repayment or Conversion of the Notes. A change of control of Westpac may result in Westpac's business being managed differently to the way it is currently managed and may also mean that Westpac's Shares are no longer quoted on ASX or the NZX Main Board.

TAX

7.1 New Zealand tax implications

Resident withholding tax

If you are a New Zealand resident or a non-resident engaged in business through a fixed establishment in New Zealand, Westpac will deduct resident withholding tax (RWT) from interest that is payable to you under the Notes, unless you produce to the Registrar a valid certificate of exemption no later than 5 Business Days before the relevant payment date.

Non-resident withholding tax and AIL

If you are not a tax resident in New Zealand, do not have a fixed establishment in New Zealand, and do not derive interest jointly with one or more holders that are resident in New Zealand, Westpac will deduct non-resident withholding tax (NRWT) at the rate required by law from interest that is payable to you under the Notes.

If Westpac is satisfied that the application of the approved issuer levy (AIL) regime in relation to payments of interest to you would result in NRWT applying at the rate of zero percent, Westpac will not deduct NRWT but will instead deduct and pay AIL unless you request in writing that NRWT be deducted from such interest instead of AIL. If Westpac applies the AIL regime, it will apply AIL at the rate of zero percent to the extent it is able to do so and otherwise at the applicable rate (currently 2%).

7.2 Australian tax implications

Westpac proposes to issue the Notes in a manner which will qualify for an exemption from Australian interest withholding tax, which may otherwise apply to the payment of interest to a holder of a Note that is a non-resident of Australia.

7.3 Indemnity

If, in respect of any of the Notes, Westpac becomes liable to account for withholding taxes, or make any payment of, or on account of, tax payable by you, then Westpac shall be indemnified by you in respect of such liability. Any amounts paid by Westpac in relation to any such liability may be recovered from you, and may be withheld from further payments in respect of Notes to you. See the Note Deed Poll for further details.

There may be other tax consequences from acquiring or disposing of the Notes. In addition, different tax consequences will arise should there be any Conversion of the Notes into Westpac Shares.

If you have any queries relating to the New Zealand or Australian tax consequences of an investment in the Notes, you should obtain professional advice on those consequences.

Further information relating to New Zealand and Australian taxation implications of the Notes, including information on the potential application of Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and the OECD Common Reporting Standard for Automatic Exchange of Financial Account Information (CRS) is available on the online offer register maintained by the Companies Office known as 'Disclose'. The offer register can be accessed at www.business.govt.nz/disclose.

9.2 Waivers, rulings, approvals and confirmations from NZX, ASX and ASIC

NZX

NZX has provided Westpac with the following waivers from the NZX Listing Rules:

- that no supervisor is required to be appointed as required under NZX Listing Rule 3.2.1(a);
- that the 10 Business Days' notice requirement in NZX Listing Rule 7.12.2 does not apply to routine payments of interest or if the Notes are Converted following a Non-Viability Trigger Event, meaning that no prior notice will be given to the NZX of routine payments of interest or the Conversion of any Notes following a Non-Viability Trigger Event; and
- that Westpac is not required to comply with the preliminary announcement, half-year and annual report and financial statement requirements of NZX Listing Rules 10.3, 10.4 and 10.5 in respect of the Notes.

The waivers from NZX Listing Rule 7.12.2 are subject to the following conditions:

- that this Offer Document discloses (i) the timing of, and record date for, routine payments of interest; (ii) the process for determining the Interest Rate and the date on which the Interest Rate will be announced via NZX; and (iii) the information required by NZX Listing Rule 7.12.2 regarding Conversion which is known at the date of this Offer Document;
- that the Interest Rate that will apply until the First Optional Redemption Date is announced via NZX on or before the Issue Date;
- that the Interest Rate that will apply from the First Optional Redemption Date is announced via NZX immediately after the First Optional Redemption Date;
- that the notice under NZX Listing Rule 7.12.2 following a Conversion must be given as soon as practicable and in any event before the NZX Debt Market opens for trading on the Business Day after Conversion occurs; and
- that the waivers are published on the Disclose Register in respect of the Offer at www.business.govt.nz/disclose.

The waivers from NZX Listing Rules 10.3, 10.4 and 10.5 are subject to the following conditions:

- that Westpac releases any preliminary announcements it prepares in accordance with ASX Listing Rule 4.3A, through NZX, at the same time that they are released through ASX;
- that Westpac:
 - o complies with all of the ASX Listing Rules regarding its annual report and interim financial statements; and
 - o releases its annual report and interim financial statements through NZX at the same time that they are released through ASX;
- that Westpac prepares all of its financial statements in accordance with the Corporations Act and the ASX Listing Rules; and
- that the waivers are published on the Disclose Register in respect of the Offer at www.business.govt.nz/disclose.

NZX has provided Westpac with a ruling that, for the purposes of NZX Listing Rules 1.14.1, 1.14.2, 5.1.7 and 5.8:

- Westpac will remain an Overseas Listed Issuer in respect of the Westpac Shares quoted on the NZX Main Board, notwithstanding the quotation of the Notes; and
- NZX will solely be the Home Exchange in respect of the Notes quoted on the NZX Debt Market, and the Notes will be subject to the NZX Listing Rules, with the exception of the NZX Listing Rules listed in Appendix 5 of the NZX Listing Rules.

The ruling is subject to the condition that ASX will remain Westpac's Home Exchange in respect of the Westpac Shares.

NZX has provided Westpac with approval under NZX Listing Rule 11.1.5, to enable Westpac to decline to accept or register a transfer of Notes if the transfer would result in the transferor or the transferee holding or continuing to hold Notes with a principal amount of less than NZ$5,000 (if not zero) or if the transfer is not in multiples of NZ$1,000.

ASX

ASX has provided Westpac with waivers of, and confirmations in relation to, certain ASX Listing Rules. Although the Notes are not being quoted on the ASX, if they are Converted the Westpac Shares issued on Conversion are expected to be quoted on ASX. ASX has confirmed that the Notes are not options for the purposes of ASX Listing Rules 6.14-6.23, has waived any impact that a Conversion may have on Westpac's placement capacity under ASX Listing Rule 7.1 and has confirmed that the Notes are classified as debt securities for the purposes of the ASX Listing Rules generally.

ASIC

ASIC relief has been obtained by Westpac in relation to the definition of "continuously quoted securities" in section 9 of the Corporations Act to enable the on-sale test in section 708A of the Corporations Act (as modified by ASIC Corporations (Regulatory Capital Securities) Instrument 2016/71) to apply to any "regulatory capital securities" (including the Notes) which are converted into Westpac Shares and on-sold to third parties.
