

IDENTIFYING YOURSELF

To help keep your money safe, the bank will want to identify you to make sure they are speaking with the right person. This is what you will need to identify yourself.

ONE of these Primary Identification documents

OR

OR

OR

OR

A Remote Indigenous Communities Verification Form

Australian Driver's License with your photo and full name

Indigenous community card with your full name, date of birth, home address and photo

18+ Photo Card

Australian Passport

OR

ONE Primary (Non-photogenic Identification) AND ONE Secondary Identification document

At least one of these documents must contain your date of birth.

Birth Certificate

+

Medicare Card

OR

Australian Marriage Certificate issued by a State/Territory Registry of Births, Deaths & Marriages

OR

Utilities notice (e.g., electricity bill or land rates notice) issued by a local government or utilities provider within the last 3 months, which shows your name and home address

OR

Financial benefits notice (e.g., Centrelink payment notice) issued by the Commonwealth or State/Territory within the last 12 months, which shows your name and home address

OR

Australian Taxation Office notice issued within the last 12 months, which shows your name and home address

Centrelink Pension Card

A Tenancy or Lease Agreement

Personal Identification Number (PIN)

Once the bank has opened your account, you may be given a card and PIN (secret number). Keep your card and PIN safe to stop others from taking your money.

Keyword

The bank may also ask you to set up a KEYWORD - a word that you can remember, and others can't guess. It will help the bank to identify you in the future.

We're here to help.

For help, call the Westpac Indigenous Connection team
 1800 230 144 Monday to Friday 8:00am-5:30pm, CST

