Information about fees and other benefits.

Fees

Westpac Securities is primarily remunerated through the fees that you pay AUSIEX. These fees are described in detail in the FSG provided by AUSIEX, which is contained in Part B of this document. On average, we receive 65% of the total revenue earned by AUSIEX from customers we refer to them. The amount received may vary up to 100%, depending on the type of product and the amount invested. Amounts received includes brokerage from securities and derivatives trading carried out by referred customers using AUSIEX, as well as commissions arising from investments these customers make, through AUSIEX, in managed investment schemes, superannuation funds and initial public offerings.

Westpac Securities may also receive further payment or benefits from other product providers, including from product providers within the Westpac Group for products that you trade (often referred to as commissions), or as a share of the fees charged by financial services providers where we assist you to receive their services.

Other possible sources of remuneration include:

(a) Underwriting

If we underwrite an issue of a financial product (such as shares or interests in managed investment schemes) by other persons (including companies outside the Westpac Group), we may receive a service fee of up to 5% of the amount underwritten. The product issuer generally pays this fee to us upon the allocation of the financial product. The relevant PDS, prospectus or other disclosure document will set out the quantum of this fee and when we will receive it. We may pass on up to 100% of this fee to other persons (including companies within the Westpac Group) for services provided to us.

(b) Custodial services

If we arrange custodial services for you, or at the request of an Australian Financial Services Licensee, there may be a custodial service fee of up to 2% pa of assets held. The custodial service fee will be detailed in the disclosure document describing the service and provided to you by us or the licensee.

(c) Other commissions

When you purchase financial products through Westpac Securities, we may receive an upfront commission and/or an ongoing commission based on the amount you invest or subscribe and dependent on the financial product and product issuer.

The upfront commission is paid whenever you invest in the financial product. Ongoing commissions are paid by the product issuer to us and are payable for as long as you hold the financial product, and are included in the fees you pay for the financial products you acquire.

In general, we may receive commissions related to the following:

Interests in managed investment schemes and superannuation funds and initial public offerings	We may receive an upfront commission of up to 5% of the amount you invest. We also may receive ongoing commission of up to 2% p.a. of the value of your investment. Both are payable by the product issuer for as long as you hold the financial product, with the frequency as determined by the product issuer and as set out in the relevant PDS or other disclosure document.
Investments using a margin loan facility	If we introduce you to a margin loan or you use a margin loan to trade through us, we may receive an ongoing commission of up to 1% p.a. of the margin loan amount outstanding as calculated and paid by the provider of the margin loan. These commissions will, generally, be paid to us on a monthly basis for as long as the margin loan amount is outstanding and you use the margin loan to trade through us.
Investments in Bank Products	If we introduce you to certain financial products issued by Westpac Banking Corporation, we may receive an ongoing commission of up to 2% p.a. of the account balance, paid as determined by Westpac, for as long as the account remains open.
Wrap and SuperWrap	If we distribute a Wrap or SuperWrap product or service to you that is operated or administered by BT Portfolio Services Ltd ('BTPS'), we may receive an ongoing commission of up to 0.775% p.a. of the value of your portfolio in Wrap or SuperWrap. This commission is paid for as long as you hold a Wrap or SuperWrap account and is paid on a monthly basis by BTPS from the fees that it receives from product issuers and/or from your Wrap or SuperWrap cash balance, as set out in the PDS or other disclosure documents provided by BTPS.

(d) Other benefits

We may receive a fee known as a stamping fee when we process particular corporate actions, such as rights issues or dividend payments, in relation to any financial products owned by you. The fee is payable by the product issuer to us for facilitating the corporate action. This fee is determined by the product issuer prior to the corporate action occurring and varies depending on the particular product issuer and corporate action. Where payable, the stamping fee will be disclosed in the relevant disclosure document and will usually be payable by the product issuer.

When you receive a service from another financial services provider through our website, the provider may pay us part of the fees, charges and interest you pay to that provider.

What remuneration or other benefits are received by employees?

Our employees are remunerated by salary from Westpac (or by another company in the Westpac Group of Companies) and do not directly receive any commissions or fees. Employees may be eligible for bonus payments based on achievement of personal or business objectives such as staff member performance and overall team performance. Bonuses can be paid quarterly, bi-annually or annually by bonus payment, additional superannuation contributions or shares in Westpac. It is not possible to determine at any given time whether a staff member will receive such benefits or rewards.

Customer rewards.

Westpac Securities may at its discretion reward customers whose trading frequency or total spend exceeds certain levels. Rewards may include providing free access to services which would normally attract a charge.
