Westpac Instalment Warrants

Financial Services Guide

This Financial Services Guide is designed to help you make an informed decision.

About this Financial Services Guide.

This Financial Services Guide (FSG) answers important questions about some of the financial services provided by Westpac Banking Corporation (Westpac, we, us). It is designed to help you make an informed decision about whether to acquire any of the financial services offered in this FSG.

This FSG covers the financial services we offer through our role as issuer of instalment warrants (Westpac Instalment Warrants). It does not cover all the financial services we offer, such as financial planning services.

The Glossary at the end of this FSG explains a number of terms used in this FSG in more detail. Other terms used in this FSG are explained in the Glossary of the Product Disclosure Statement for the relevant Westpac Instalment Warrant (PDS), which accompanies this FSG. The relevant PDS is available and can be downloaded at www.westpac.com.au/structuredinvestments. You should consider the PDS in deciding whether to acquire, or continue to hold, an investment in Westpac Instalment Warrants.

Any material provided to you by us as the issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants will contain factual information or general advice. This factual information or general advice does not take into account your particular objectives, financial situation or needs, and a statement of advice will not be provided. Accordingly, you will need to consider the appropriateness of the information having regard to your particular circumstances.

What information is in our FSG?

This FSG contains information about:

- Our business.
- How you can contact us.
- The financial services we will provide, or are likely to provide, to you through our role as issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants, and the kinds of financial products those services relate to.
- How you can tell us what you would like us to do.
- The fees, commissions and other benefits that may be paid to Westpac, our employees and other relevant people.

- Our complaints resolution procedures and how you can access them.
- What other information you should consider when deciding whether to choose us.

This FSG should be read together with the PDS for the relevant Westpac Instalment Warrant. A PDS is designed to help you make an informed decision about the specific financial product you are considering. You may receive a PDS if we recommend that you acquire a particular financial product or if we offer or arrange to issue or sell a financial product to you. PDSs are described in more detail in Section 5 of this FSG. So you can make the right decision, you should read the relevant PDS together with this FSG before you decide what to do.

1. About Westpac.

Westpac is a publicly listed company. Westpac is also the parent company of the Westpac Group of companies.

Westpac holds an Australian financial services licence issued by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Australian financial services licence no. 233714).

Our licence covers the financial services described in this FSG, amongst others. Westpac is also regulated by the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) as an authorised deposit-taking institution.

Westpac has adopted the Code of Banking Practice. This Code sets standards of good banking practice that we follow in dealing with our individual and small business customers and their guarantors. Because Westpac is regulated by APRA, it is exempt from the compensation requirements in the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth). Westpac holds a Professional Indemnity Insurance Policy. This Policy extends to claims relating to the professional services provided by Westpac and its representatives, including claims that may arise after their employment with Westpac has ceased for conduct while they were employed.

3. The financial services we are offering under this FSG.

In our role as issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants, we may provide the following financial services:

- deal in the Westpac Instalment Warrants (securities or interests in interests in a managed investment scheme);
- deal in the Underlying Securities in respect of the Westpac Instalment Warrants (securities, interests in a managed investment scheme or interests in interests in a managed investment scheme); and
- provide general financial product advice (securities, interests in a managed investment scheme or interests in interests in a managed investment scheme).

We are authorised to provide other financial services under our Australian financial services licence, such as personal advice, making a market and dealing in a broader range of financial products. Our full licence authorisations can be viewed at www.asic.gov.au.

4. Who provides the services?

The financial services covered by this FSG are provided by Westpac, the issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants. Our employees and authorised representatives may provide financial services on our behalf. We act on our own behalf as the issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants.

5. What other documents might we give to you?

When you receive financial products or services from us, we may also give you a Statement of Advice or a PDS, or both. For some products, you may also receive a 'prospectus' or 'terms and conditions' document.

All of these documents are designed to help you make an informed decision about the specific financial service or financial product you are considering. To make sure you make the right decision, you should read them before you decide what to do.

This FSG covers the financial services we offer through our role as the issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants. It should be read together with the PDS for the relevant Westpac Instalment Warrant. If you receive other financial services from us, such as personal advice, you will receive another FSG which will describe the other documents that you may receive such as a Statement of Advice or other record of advice.

Product Disclosure Statement (PDS)

A PDS is a document that contains information about the financial products issued or sold to you. You may receive a PDS if we recommend that you acquire a particular financial product, or if we offer or arrange to issue or sell a financial product to you. The PDS contains important information about the financial product, including:

- the features, significant benefits and risks of the financial product;
- the costs of the financial product;
- dispute resolution procedures; and
- the fees and charges that the financial product issuer may receive or charge.

6. Telling us what you would like us to do.

How you instruct us depends on the financial service or financial product you would like us to provide.

In most cases, you can give us instructions in the way you most prefer: in person, by writing to us; or by telephone, fax, email or other means you've previously arranged with us.

In some cases, we may require your instructions to be in writing. We will give you information about how to do this in the documents you get about the products and services we offer.

Information about how to apply for, and to give us instructions about, the Westpac Instalment Warrants is set out in the 'How to Apply' section of the relevant PDS and in the Application Form accompanying the PDS.

7. Our fees.

This section describes remuneration (including commissions) and other benefits we and certain other relevant persons may receive that relate to the financial services covered by this FSG. It does not cover all remuneration relating to financial services we may provide outside this FSG, such as financial planning and stockbroking services.

Fees and other benefits paid to us as issuer of the Westpac Instalment Warrants by investors

As issuer of a Loan under the Westpac Instalment Warrants, the remuneration (including commissions) and other benefits we may receive includes the Interest Amount which is payable in advance on the Loan. The Interest Amount depends on a number of factors, including the Loan Amount, the Interest Rate, the number of days in the relevant Interest Period and the cost to Westpac of providing Holders with the protection of a limited recourse Loan.

When you buy or sell Westpac Instalment Warrants on the secondary market, you may need to pay your broker brokerage or commission.

Further information about these fees and other benefits is set out in the PDS for the relevant Westpac Instalment Warrant. You may request particulars of the above fees within a reasonable time after receiving this FSG and before any financial service identified in this FSG is provided to you.

Fees Westpac pays to referrers

If a customer is referred to us (whether by a person or a company within or outside the Westpac Group), we may (if permitted by law) pay the referrer a fee. The fee varies according to the customer, referrer and financial products involved. The fee will be set out in documents you may receive in these circumstances.

The fee may be up to 100% of our fees (in the case of other companies within the Westpac Group), a percentage of the total amount invested or paid through the referral, or a flat fee. We pay these fees as upfront fees when the financial service is provided or the financial product is issued, or periodically as ongoing fees. You may request particulars of the fees we pay to referrers within a reasonable time after receiving this FSG and before any financial service identified in this FSG is provided to you.

If you agree to pay your adviser a fee in connection with applying for Westpac Instalment Warrants, you may appoint us as your agent to pay to your adviser on your behalf your specified Adviser Service Fee amount. We do not keep any portion of the Adviser Service Fee.

To the extent permitted by law, we may make other payments (or provide certain benefits) to approved financial advisers, brokers and other participating organisations of the ASX in connection with the issue of Westpac Instalment Warrants.

What payments and other benefits do our employees receive?

The way we remunerate our employees varies between our business areas. Generally, we pay our employees a combination of salary plus superannuation (which are generally paid monthly or fortnightly) and one or more of the following types of benefits:

Cash bonuses

Our employees may receive bonuses (individual and/or team) if they meet:

- performance targets in relation to sales or for referring customers to other areas of Westpac's business; and
- other performance targets (which include meeting compliance, customer, shareholder, people and corporate responsibility requirements).

The mechanism for calculating the bonus may vary according to the particular part of our business that an employee works in.

Prizes, rewards and other incentives

Our employees may also qualify for non-monetary benefits from time to time if they meet performance targets.

Incentives range from small non-monetary rewards such as movie tickets to more valuable benefits such as pre-paid holiday packages, attendance at conferences and Westpac performance shares and options.

The type of benefit and the method of giving it depend on the promotion or remuneration scheme, the employee's position and the area of our business.

8. Respecting your privacy.

At Westpac we aim to protect and maintain the privacy, accuracy and security of the personal and financial information you give us. The Westpac privacy policy, available at westpac.com.au or by calling 132 032, explains in more detail our commitment to protecting your personal information. The policy contains information about how we handle your personal information, including how to access your information, seek corrections and make complaints.

9. Getting your complaint heard.

Sometimes you may want to talk about problems you are having with us. Fixing these problems is very important to us. We've put in place ways of dealing with your issues quickly and fairly.
